KIDNAPPED.

Drama of Thrilling Situations and Comedy Presented Tonight,

Kidnapped is a comedy melodrama of the present day. It is full of intense situations and comedy climaxes. The characters are all taken from life. The plot is a strong one and deals with the adventures of one Jacques Daggard who in the day time is a gentleman and by night a robber as Antoine Lazzette. He is in love with Grace Baybrook whose father he has in his power on account of his forging a check. Grace is in love with Phillip Northcote an artist, but to save her father she promises to marry Daggard. In the second act Ann Blake, who has been rescued by Loie Rheingold, mistakes Daggard for Northcote and is killed by him. Daggard fixes the crime on Northcote.

The third act shows the dining room of the McMooneys where some exceedingly funny scenes occur. Grace repents at the altar in regard to her marriage with Daggard and comes to the McMooneys for shelter, Daggard disguised as Lazette, follows her and abducts her. The fourth act shows the den of Lazette and his confederates. The Bishop Estate Gets the Peabody Land.

Judge Robinson Tells Jurors They Cannot Lie About Their Beliefs-Divorce Case.

Another day was consumed yesterday in an ineffectual attempt to draw a jury for the trial of Pat Murphy on charge of murder. So numerous were the jurors yesterday, who were excused because they said they were opposed to the death penalty on circumstantial evidence, that Judge Robinson suggested that there was probable need for a grand jury to investigate whether or not perjury was being committed in the effort to escape jury service.

Twenty-five jurors were brought in yesterday on the open venire and of these but four were left on the panel. The remainder who were excused, were nearly all opposed to convicting a man for murder on circumstantial evidence. This led to the court's remark on the probable necessity for a grand jury in-It appears that some of the jurors who were excused had told officers of the court, and other men summoned as jurors, that all that was necessary to escape jury service was to say that they were opposed to the death penalty on circumstantial evidence, or that they didn't know the difference between direct and circumstantial testimony. These remarks were reported to Judge Robinson and he reminded the jurors that they were sworn to tell the truth and if they said they had scruples against the death penalty simply to escape jury service they were violating their oaths. Nothing further a conviction for perjury where the offender's own testimony is required, nothing will be done.

A second venire was issued at noon I was seated by the fire place in a lit- but not returned at two o'clock and tle New England cottage. 'Twas bleak Judge Robinson then issued a second open venire for an additional fifty men.

Bulgaria's New Cabinet.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLEGRAMS,)

SOFIA, May 19 .- A new cabinet has been formed by the Stantbuloff party with Petroff as Premier. It will seek the friendship of the powers.

The forming of a cabinet in Bulgaria by the Stambuloff party means that another strong factor has been brought into the Balkan London. troubles. The new party is anti-Russian. Thus it is that they immediately appeal to the powers to help Bulgaria to a firmer position. The Stambuloff party is composed of the former followers of Stepan Stambuloff, who was the greatest statesman Bulgaria ever produced, Jonah Kumalae & Cc. and who was for sixteen years Prime Minister. Under his rule Russia had but little influence in the Balkans. He was assassinated in 1895 and it was claimed that Russia was "interested." Russia immediately became a strong factor in Bulgarian and Balkan matters. Stambuloff was cruel, tyrannical, and vindictive, but he was honest, patriotic, and unselfish in his devotion to his country and his people, and the Russian sympathizers in Bulgaria were said to have been responsible for his death. Since his death it has been said that the Russian agent at Sofia has been more powerful than the reigning Prince Ferdinand.
